

Heat Shrinkable Wire Covers

Frayed picture wire is a nuisance! It can puncture skin, scratch walls, or catch on clothing. WireWraps are heat-shrinkable wire covers that end frayed picture wires and add a safe, professional touch to your framing jobs. Simply feed the picture wire through a pair of WireWraps, slide them over the twisted wire sections, and shrink WireWraps tightly over the wire using a hot air gun. WireWraps will shrink to less than half of their normal diameter, forming a tight seal around the picture wire that covers the end and prevents unraveling.

Step 1:
Wrap the picture wire

Step 2:
Slide WireWraps to ends

Step 3:
Shrink WireWraps
with a heat gun

WireWraps are available in three convenient diameters for use with the most common sizes of braided or twisted picture wire. WireWraps can also be used on stiff, coated wires or crimped sleeves to provide added protection.

Each polybag package of WireWraps contains ten (4 inch) pieces of tubing, which is enough for 20 to 25 frames. The bulk package of 100 (4 inch) pieces will protect over 200 frames. Tubing can be easily cut to the desired length with ordinary scissors. Use a commercial heat gun or embossing gun to shrink the tubing.
